LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS CATCHING IT HEAVY

Circuit Court Criminal Docket Is Fast Being Cleaned Up—
Some of the Cases

When the case of Eva Bicknell, charged with violating the liquor laws, was called in Madison circuit court early this week Jack Merritt, a material witness in the case, did not answer. He came into court Wednesday, however, and told Judge Shackelford that the Bicknell woman had given him $25 to get out of town, so as not to testify against her. Merritt said he went to Knoxville, but his money ran out there and he decided to come on back home. Judge Shackelford fined Merritt $20 for contempt of court and officials say that there are now two charges, in store for Mrs. Bicknell, for it is a serious offense to tamper with witnesses. Her trial on the liquor law violation case is set for trial on Feb. 23d.

Commonwealth's Attorney V. J. Baxter, working in his first term of court here, is "taking the boys over the jumps" and cleaning up the criminal docket in rapid shape. William Ritten, failed to answer to his name when called to face a charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons, so his $100 bond was declared forfeit, and he was tried in his absence. He was then sentenced to serve 40 days in jail and pay a fine of $100.

The bond of Alonzo Harris, amounting to $500, was also forfeited upon his failure to appear to answer to his name.

James Parks, colored, charged with grand larceny, had his bond of $500 forfeited.

Clenneth Benton, colored, who is wanted for trial in connection with the theft of auto tires, was caught at Winchester and is in jail there. He will be brought here for trial. The charge against Babe Nelson for the same offense, was filed away.

H. C. Eversole failed to appear to answer to the charge of having given a "cold check" to Rice & Arnold. His $200 bond was then declared forfeited and he was sentenced in his absence to pay $100 fine and spend 30 days in prison.

Pat Crews, charged with having liquor for the purpose of sale, was given a fine of $200 and 60 days in jail. On a similar charge A. B. Abell was acquitted. James Kidwell, with a similar charge against him, failed to appear and his $200 was declared forfeited and he was tried and given a 10-day sentence with a fine of $20 and costs.

Paul Thompson was fined $50 and given 10 days for shooting on the highway. Tried on a charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons, the jury failed to agree. The jury also failed to agree which tried Tom Roberts on a charge of having liquor for purposes of sale. The liquor charge against Birdie Gentry will be called again Monday.

Link Lakes, of Berea, who was fined some $75 in court at Berea growing out of a difficulty there, had an appeal pending before the circuit court, but he withdrew it. Curt Terrill was given 60 days in jail and fined $300 upon conviction of having had liquor for purpose of sale.

Perhaps the first plea of guilty in a liquor selling case in a long time was that of Otis Ward who admitted his guilt. He is from the Kirksville section. He got the minimum of $50 fine and 10 days in jail. A jury found Jones and Frank Simpson not guilty on a liquor sale charge. But another jury gave Jeff Thurman $50 and 30 days in jail on a similar charge.

The grand jury refused to indict Jesse Cain on a charge of cutting Norman Winkler. Testimony of witnesses who saw the affair is said to have convinced the grand jury that Cain was not the aggressor and not at fault.

That it's still a costly adventure to go chicken stealing was discovered by Dillard and Dewey Todd, colored. Their sentence was four years in the penitentiary.

James Wilson, of the Berea section, was given a fine of $75 and costs for pointing a deadly weapon at Mrs. Tom Harris.

Fans Meet Tonight

Baseball fans who want to see Richmond have a team in the Blue Grass league are requested to meet at the Richmond Motor Company tonight at 7:30 o'clock. A report must be made to the meeting of representatives from the towns which want representation in the league at Lexington Friday night. Somehow, many of the dye-in-the-wool fans here are lukewarm about the matter, it seems; at least, they have been keeping awfully quiet about it.

HARD SUBSTANCE CHOKES LITTLE GIRL

Some hard foreign substance became lodged in the esophagus of little Edith Woods, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Wagers, while she was playing at their home at Waco Sunday and for a time it was feared the child would choke to death. She was hurried to a physician and obtained relief. Dr. O. F. Hume afterward made an X-ray examination at his office here, and found the foreign substance lodged at a point near the breast bone. Being unable to reach it here, it was decided to send the little girl to a hospital at Louisville, so her parents drove there with her for treatment there Wednesday.

MISSING LANCASTER GIRL HEIR TO MONEY

Police at Louisville were asked to search for Miss Ivy Pendleton, a young woman whose mother died recently at Lancaster, to inform her she has inherited an estate and probably will suffer considerable loss unless she is in Lancaster shortly for the probating of her mother's will, said Wednesday's Times. When last heard of, according to the report, Miss Pendleton was employed in Louisville as a maid. That was in December 1921.

J. G. Davidson, cashier of the Citizens National Bank of Lancaster wrote Arch R. Davis, vice president of the Citizens Union National Bank at Louisville, asking that the matter of locating the girl be taken up with the police.

House Passes New Dog Law

Frankfort, Feb. 9.—Kentucky's House of Representatives passed on Wednesday Representative J. B. Wicker's bill to allow one dog free to each family, by a vote of 57 to 28. Governor Morrow declared the present license law is harassing, useless and an unnecessary one that produces practically no revenue, and that it should be repealed. Maintaining the best humor, he spent about twenty minutes watching the Representatives go back home and put "Old Ring" on the head when he ran out to meet them and say "Ring, old fellow, I thought about you when I was up to Frankfort."

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

Mr. R. B. Mullins bought the nice two-story frame residence of Rev. J. N. Clifton, corner North and Fourth streets. Price private.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Quisenberry and family and Mrs. Fannie Park have leased an apartment in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Stone, on Second street.

Miss Anna Johnson, of Dix Block, Ky., has taken rooms on Smith-Ballard street.

WELLS CASE TRIALS ON FEBRUARY 27

Confusion Caused In Date—
Keith's Bond Is Lowered
From $15,000 To $4,000

The trials of Lawrence Pierce and Tom Keith on charge of abducting and assaulting Peter W. Wells, will be tried on the 24th day of the present term of circuit court and not the 24th day of February. The 24th day of the term falls on Monday, February 27th, and the trials will begin on that day, and not February 24th as was erroneously stated yesterday.

Two indictments were returned by the grand jury against Pierce, Keith and Monk Wilson. One charges confederating and banding together to intimidate and injure, resulting in injury and the other charges robbery.

When the indictments were returned to court, Judge Shackelford lowered the bail of Keith from $15,000 to $4,000. As will be recalled, Keith confessed his connection with the near-tragedy. Wilson is still a fugitive. It is expected that Pierce will soon be brought to the local jail from Winchester where he has been incarcerated since his examining trial, having been unable to give the $30,000 bond required of him.

The first batch of indictments returned by the grand jury exclusive of the Pierce case indictments, numbered 17. Sheriff Elmer Deatherage got busy and had many of those indicted in custody at once. The indictments include six for carrying concealed deadly weapons; nine for violating the prohibition law; one for transporting liquor, and one for grand larceny.

BEREA BASKETEERS PLAY HERE FRIDAY

When Transylvania called her game with Eastern off for Saturday night, Coach Hembree got busy and booked a game with the Berea town team for Friday night. The Berea town team has four of the Berea College varsity men on its lineup that is to start against Eastern. These boys have shown themselves to be real players on the Berea College team. Eastern is going out to win all the rest of her games. Coach Hembree's men have a new comer by the name of Williams in their ranks who looks to be of good material. He played guard just before the last game Clark was elected captain of the Eastern five when Combs quit the team. The former captain's injuries are reported to be doing nicely. Clark has been playing steadily ball all season for Eastern in all of her games so far. He knows basketball and is a good leader.

Coach Hembree has announced his schedule for the remainder of the season. He has games with several strong teams, including Cumberland, Union, Transylvania, Sue Bennett, and Western. The schedule is as follows: Berea at Richmond, Feb. 10; Kentucky Wesleyan at Winchester, Feb. 12; Sue Bennett at London, Feb. 18; Union College at Richmond, Feb. 21; Western Normal at Bowling Green, Feb. 23; Bowling Green Business University at Bowling Green, Feb. 24; Transylvania at Lexington, Feb. 28; Cumberland at Williamsburg, March 4, and Transylvania at Richmond, Mar. 11. Several other games may be added to this list. This is indeed a hard schedule and Eastern will have to fight hard to win all the games.

Miss Hatton Recovering
Miss Nora Hatton, of the eastern part of the city, who has been in a Lexington hospital the past three weeks, having submitted to an operation for the removal of her tonsils and adenoids and also had a serious operation on her eye with the hope of having her sight restored, is at home with her parents. Her eye is greatly improved, but the Philadelphia oculist, who did the work, advises another operation in a few weeks, or as soon as her strength will permit. Her friends here are quite anxious as to the outcome and hope for her a complete recovery.

Seven Years For Crime Against Little Girl

Harlan, Feb. 8.—James Petres was convicted of having detained Nancy Scott, 13, at Benham, last week and was given seven years in the penitentiary.

ANTI-RACING BILL KILLED IN SENATE

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 9.—Senator John A. Lee's anti-racing bill was killed in the Senate Wednesday afternoon when, by a vote of 26 to 19, that body refused first reading to the measure, which had been adversely reported by the committee on judiciary. Four members signed the adverse report, the other members voting with nine other senators to advance the bill to first reading.

That the opponents of racing did not muster as much strength as they had, was indicated in the explanation during the voting, as Senator Caywood said that while he would vote to give the measure first reading, it was not to be taken as an indication as to how he would vote on question of passage. The detailed vote was as follows:—

For first reading—Bell, Caywood, Dargatzis, Garner, Green, Hall, Harris, Lee, Marshall, Rasin—10.

Against first reading—Baker, Branstetter, Bright, Black, Davis, Demmlum, Kelly, Kline, Metzger, Monroe, Moss, Perry, Points, Reynolds, Ryans, Simmons, Stoll, Taber, Wallace, Watts, Welch, White, Whitaker—26.

WANTS TOMB OF FIRST GOVERNOR HONORED

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 8.—On the border of Lincoln county, just over the line from Shelby County, lie the remains of Isaac Shelby, first and fourth governor of Kentucky. His body lies in a neglected grave in the old Shelby burial ground at Arcadia, ancestral estate of the Shelys, from which place in 1792 he rode horseback to Lexington take the oath of office after Kentucky had split off from Virginia and become a state. A bill was placed before the General Assembly, by Representative Lester J. Jeter, of Lincoln county, would remedy the neglect of the grave of Kentucky's first governor. The Lincoln representative asks the state to appropriate $5,000 for a proper marker for the grave of Gov. Shelby and to keep it in a state fitting to the history of Kentucky and its famous men.

History records much of the works of Isaac Shelby as a pioneer of Kentucky. He had much to do with the settlement of Lincoln county, one of the first three counties formed in Kentucky, and with the pioneer work of the state. He was elected governor in 1792 and served from June 2 in that year until June 7, 1796. He was elected again in 1812 and served from June 1 of that year to June 1, 1816.

In letters to Representative Jeter and to Senator Joseph Haselden, D. B. Pendergrass, of Shelby County, who has introduced himself in the matter, recites that at the 1920 session of the Assembly a bill was introduced but was killed in a mixup in the House of Representatives. He says that he has talked to members of the Shelby family and that they are anxious that the state mark the grave.

The spot where the former governor lies is said to be almost barren. Mr. Pendergrass promises to give all necessary land for drives into the burial ground without expense to the state if the monument is erected.

Miss Mattie White Super spent Sunday with her grandmother, on the Irvine road.

CHARGES DR. ZINKE MADE HIM CAPTIVE

Former Local Physician Seems
To Be In Peculiar Mix-up
In Cincinnati

Many here, where Dr. Zinke formerly lived will be interested in the following from the Cincinnati Times-Star:

As the result of an unusual and harrowing experience he said he had Sunday night, Clarence Doppler, 2215 Harrison avenue, swore to warrants Monday for the arrest of Dr. Stanley Zinke, 42 Roma Building, Clifton, on charges of pointing fire arms, disorderly conduct and threatening to assault. Doppler told the police that while he was driving home he noticed that another automobile seemed to be following his car. He speeded up his machine, he said, and drove rapidly along Clifton avenue to Dixsmith, McMicken, Hopple and then Riddle road, where, when he looked back to see where he still was followed, he lost control of the car and it hit a post, throwing him to the ground. In a moment, he told the police, his pursuer was upon him, armed with two revolvers. "You are under arrest," Doppler claims the man said. Thinking the man was a bandit, he said, "Take all my money but don't shoot me."

Then, Doppler relates, the man compelled him to straddle the radiator of his machine, and driving with one hand and "covering" him with the revolver in the other, the driver proceeded to Colerain avenue. There, Doppler told the police later, his captor said: "Get inside; I'll show you some fast driving." Doppler charges that the man drove about 50 miles an hour to the Tenth district police station, where he charged Doppler with reckless driving, and then alleging that Doppler had been drinking, insisted that he be taken to the general hospital for examination. This, he said, and it was found that Doppler had not been drinking. In fact, Doppler said, he has never taken a drink at any time.

About two hours later Dr. Zinke's car was found wrecked on Glenmary avenue, where it had cut a telephone pole in two. Later police were summoned to the Zinke apartments but were told that their services were not required.

Monday morning Zinke did not appear to prosecute Doppler and the record of the case was erased. Thereupon Doppler swore to the warrants against the physician. At the office of the physician it was said Monday that Dr. Zinke would not be there during the day. Neither could he be communicated with at his home.

ALLIED DEBTS TO GO INTO LONG TIME BONDS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 9.—The bill creating a commission and otherwise providing for the conversion of the eleven billion dollar debt owed to the United States by the allied powers, was signed today by President Harding. The commission will consist of five members, headed by the Secretary of the Treasury. President Harding let it be known that he will appoint two other cabinet members and a member each from the House and Senate. The plan is to convert the debt into long time bonds.

SUSPECT FOUL WORK IN BURNING OF SHIP

(By Associated Press)
Newport News, Va., Feb. 9.—Survivors of the former's transport, Northern Pacific, burned at sea yesterday with a loss of four lives are not convinced the burning of the ship was wholly accidental. While Captain William Lusco would not make a formal statement, some members of the crew declared they suspected foul play. The survivors declare the ship was a roaring furnace inside when the fire was discovered. The crew were summoned and all took to the boats, except four employees of the ship-building company, whose quarters could not be reached owing to the flames.

STANDARD SAYS IT IS CUTTING GAS PRICES

Mayor O'Neil's Letter Gets Quick Results From One Big Gasoline Producer

Mayor O'Neil appears to have accomplished something for the benefit of gasoline users of Richmond by his letters to the big oil companies. He received a reply from the Standard Oil Company that a cut is being made in the price of gasoline it sells here. The letter says:

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 7, 1922
Hon. Wm. O'Neil, Mayor,
Richmond, Kentucky

Dear Sir:—
Your letter of February 3rd in regard to price of gasoline has been received and noted.

We are very glad to be able to advise you that this question of price at Richmond was adjusted last week the new price going into effect Monday of this week. This adjustment in price has been made possible by new classifications in freight rates which go into effect April 1. We have, however, decided to give our customers the advantage of this new rate in advance, and this change puts Richmond on the same basis of price as Lexington, Paris, Winchester, Lancaster, Nicholasville, etc.

Heretofore freight rates on tankcar shipments from our Baton Rouge, Louisiana, refinery have cost us 1 1/2c per gallon more than to Lexington. On the new classification the Richmond rate from Baton Rouge will be the same as Lexington.

We are very glad to be able to make this change, and while the rate from Louisville to Richmond is still about one-half cent per gallon higher than to Lexington, we are going to give Richmond the benefit of the same price as Lexington.

Yours truly,
H. McGOODWIN, D. M.
